MINISTRY OF HEALTH

New Delhi, the 22nd July 1961

S.O. 1757.—The following draft of certain rules further to amend the Drugs Rules, 1945, which the Central Government propose to make in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 12 and 33 of the Drugs Act, 1940 (23 of 1940), is published after consultation with the Drugs Technical Advisory Board as required by the said sections for the information of all persons likely to be affected thereby and notice is hereby given that the said draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 15th August, 1961.

Any objection or suggestion which may be received from any person with respect to the said draft before the date so specified will be considered by the Central Government

DRAFT RULES

1. These rules may be called the Drugs (Amendment) Rules, 1961.
2. In the Drugs Rules, 1945, in Schedule F, for the following Part shall be substituted, namely:—

“PART VIII:—EPINEPHRINE INJECTION

1. Proper Name.—The proper name of the preparation shall be “Epinephrine Injection”.

2. Description.—Epinephrine Injection is a sterile solution of epinephrine in water for injection containing in each 100 ml. 0.08 g. tartaric acid, 0.8 g. Sodium Chloride and not less than 0.09 g. and not more than 0.110 g. of Epinephrine, $C_9H_9NO_3$.

3. Standard Preparation.—The standard preparation is a quantity of pure 1-Epinephrine which complies with the following tests:—

Tests for identity and purity.—(1) It gradually darkens on exposure to air, It combines with acids, forming salts which are soluble in water, and from these solutions. The base may be precipitated by the addition of dilute solution of ammonia or by alkali carbonates.

(2) It is very slightly soluble in water and in dehydrated alcohol; more soluble in boiling water; practically insoluble in alcohol (90 per cent), in ether, in chloroform, in acetone, and in fixed and volatile oils.

(3) It is not stable in a neutral or alkaline solution which rapidly becomes red on exposure to air.

(4) Dilute 1 ml. or 0.1 per cent w/v solution in water with 4 ml. of water and add 1 drop of a 10.0 per cent w/v solution of ferric chloride in water; an emerald-green colour is immediately produced which becomes cherryred on the addition of 4 drops of solution of dilute ammonia (Indian Pharmacopœia).

(5) Add 1 ml. of 0.1 per cent w/v solution in water to 5 ml. of a 10.0 per cent w/v solution of sodium acetate in water, and add 2 drops of test solution of mercuric chloride (Indian Pharmacopœia), a red colouration slowly appears which reaches its greatest depth of intensity after half an hour. When the tube is placed for not more than 10 to 15 seconds in water—bath the colour appears more quickly.

Specific rotation.—Determined at 25°C in a 4.0 per cent w/v solution in a mixture of 1 volume of hydrochloric acid and 9 volumes of water, —50.0° to —53.5°.

Adrenalone.—0.05 g. dissolves completely in a mixture of 0.15 ml. of water and 0.15 ml. of acetic acid.

Loss on drying.—When dried to constant weight at 100° in vacuo, loses not more than 1.0 per cent of its weight.

Residue on ignition.—Not more than 0.1 per cent.

4. Test for potency.—A suitable solution of epinephrine injected intravenously into a cat or a dog by the methods below produces a rise in the systolic blood-pressure of the animal corresponding to that produced by an equal amount of a solution of standard chemically pure epinephrine.

Preparation of the solution for the test.—The following method is suggested:—

Weight accurately about 0.050 g. of standard epinephrine, dissolve it in 5 ml. of N/1 Hydrochloric acid and dilute this to 50 ml. by the addition of distilled water, thus making a 1 in 1,000 solution. This solution must be recently prepared otherwise it deteriorates. It will keep for a short time if preserved in hard glass containers in a refrigerator, but it must be discarded if any signs of deterioration, such as colouration, are observed.

Suitable dilutions of the standard epinephrine solution may then be made in physiological saline for comparison with equivalent dilutions of epinephrine injection to be tested.

Method of comparison of potency.—The following methods of assay are suggested:—

(a) For the purpose of the assay a full grown cat, preferably male, should be used. The cat should be anaesthetised with a suitable anaesthetic, the spinal cord should be divided and the brain destroyed, the respiration being maintained artificially. The blood pressure is estimated by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. The blood-pressure must be low and must not vary before experiments are started. The amount of standard solution necessary to cause a sub-maximal rise in blood pressure by injecting intravenously varying doses of the solution at regular intervals should be determined and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained the uniformity of reactions should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made varying amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raise the blood-pressure to the same height, indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used. From the result thus obtained the strength of the unknown solutions may be determined and adjusted.

(b) For the purpose of the assay, a dog of medium size should be used. The animal should be anaesthetized with a suitable anaesthetic and maintained under artificial respiration. It is prepared for blood-pressure estimations by inserting a cannula into the carotid artery and connecting the same with a mercury manometer which records on a moving drum. The injections are made into the exposed femoral vein. Before the test is made, if in case any muscular movement such as twitching is present, the dog should receive by intravenous injections a sufficient dose of curare, but if the animal is deeply anaesthetised, this is not necessary. The dog should also receive a sufficient dose of atropine sulphate (from 0.001 g. to 0.002 g. per kg. of the dog's weight) to paralyse the vagi, this paralysis being proved by electrical stimulation. Injections must be made at regular intervals of approximately five minutes.

Determine the amount of standard solution necessary to cause a rise in blood-pressure from 30 to 60 mm. of mercury by injecting intravenously varying dose of the solution and after a satisfactory dose has been ascertained, the uniformity of reaction should be tested by the injection of two or more doses of equal size. If these injections produce approximately equal increases in blood-pressure, alternate injections of the solution to be tested and of the standard are made varying the amount of the unknown until two or more successive injections raise the blood-pressure to the same height indicating that the amount of active agent is the same in the doses used. From the results thus obtained the strength of the unknown solution may be determined and adjusted.

5. Containers.—(1) Ampoules shall be made of resistant glass that passes the tests for limits of alkalinity of glass as laid down in the Indian Pharmacopoeia. Containers other than ampoules shall be made of amber coloured resistant glass that passes the test for limit of alkalinity of glass as laid down in the Indian Pharmacopoeia.

(2) The drug shall be made up only in single-dose containers of 0.5 ml. or 1 ml. capacity.

(3) The anti-oxidant or preservative need not be specified in the formula.

6. Storage.—Epinephrine Injection shall be kept in ampoules protected from light. If the solution becomes brown in colour or contains a precipitate, it must be rejected. A suitable preservative may be added to the solution.

Labelling.—The label of the container shall contain the following in addition to any other particulars prescribed in these rules:—

1. Strength of the solution.
2. The word 'sterile' or the words "suitable for parenteral injection."
3. Dose (0.12 to 0.3 ml. by injection).
4. Date of manufacture and date of expiry, the intervening period must not exceed one year.
5. The name and strength of any preservative or anti-oxidant added shall be shown either on the label of the container or on the package in which the container is enclosed.
6. Caution.—If the solution is brown in colour or contains a precipitate it must be rejected."

I. D. No. 82, of 1961

BETWEEN

The employers in relation to the Concord of India Insurance Company
Limited, New Delhi

AND

Their workmen.

Shri A. S. Dugal—for the management.

Shri Madan Mohan—for the workmen.

AWARD

By G.O. No. [70(5)/61-LRIV], dated the 13th April, 1961, the industrial dispute, between the employers in relation to the Concord of India Insurance Company Limited, New Delhi, and their workmen, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication under Sections 10(1)(d) and 12(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947.

2. The term of reference is as follows:—

Whether the retrenchment of Shri Bankey Singh and Shri Mohan Singh, Peons by the Concord of India Insurance Company, Limited, New Delhi, was justified and, if not, to what relief are they entitled?

3. It is alleged in the statement of claim filed on behalf of the workmen, that Sarvashri Bankey Singh, and Mohan Singh, Peons of the Concord of India Insurance Company Limited, were sent out of service, that the reason assigned by the management for terminating the service of Shri Bankey Singh is, that the post of Watchman was abolished, that this is wrong, that he was employed as a Peon, that Shri Mohan Singh was employed as a Peon till 31st January, 1961, that his services were terminated on the ground, that he had been appointed as a substitute in place of Shri Rammurat Singh, and that on the latter's return to duty, Shri Mohan Singh became surplus, that the action of the management in terminating the services of both the workmen is mala fide, improper, and wrongful, and that they should be re-instated in service together with suitable relief.

4. The contention on behalf of the management is, that there is no industrial dispute, that there is only an individual dispute, that the reference is bad, that Shri Bankey Singh was employed as a Peon, but was doing the duties of night Watchman, that he was retrenched with effect from 31st January, 1961, as his services were no longer required, that such retrenchment is valid, and is in accordance with the Industrial Disputes Act, that Shri Mohan Singh's services were terminated by the company because Shri Rammurat Singh, on account of whose prolonged illness, Shri Mohan Singh was employed, came back to duty, that the workman was offered retrenchment relief, and that the termination of service of both the workmen is valid and proper.

5. The following issues were framed:—

- (1) Whether there is an industrial dispute?
- (2) Whether the retrenchment of the two workmen is lawful and justified?
- (3) Whether the retrenchment is wrongful, and mala fide, and an act of victimisation, as alleged?
- (4) To what relief, if any, are the workmen entitled?

Issues No. 1—4.

6. This is a dispute between the employers in relation to the Concord of India Insurance Company Limited, New Delhi, and their workmen.

7. When this matter came on for hearing, both parties reported settlement, and a compromise was arrived at in terms of Ext. M/1. The provisions of Ext. M/1, are as set out below:—

"The parties have mutually agreed as under:—

I. That the workmen withdraw their demand for reinstatement.

II. That the Management agrees to pay the following sums to the two retrenched peons:—

	Shri Bankey Singh	Sh. Mohan Singh
1. Amount payable in lieu of notice	Rs. 87.00	Rs. 97.00
2. Gratuity	Rs. 128.00	Rs. 315.00

5. Ex-gratia	Rs. 600.00	Rs. 600.00
	Rs. 1053.00	Rs. 1435.00

III. That the amount of the Provident Fund would be paid as soon as received from the Head Office of the Company.

IV. That now there is no dispute outstanding between the parties, with regard to these two workmen.

The parties, therefore, pray, that this Hon'ble Tribunal may be pleased to pass an award in terms of the above settlement.

“Whether the lock-out of the workmen of the Bauxite Mine (Bagru Hills) with effect from 19th November 1960 was justified and if not, to what relief are the workmen entitled and from whom i.e. whether from the management of Messrs New Churulia Coal Company Limited, Shivasagar Post Office Domchanch, District Hazaribagh or then Raising Contractor Shri Jahl Ahmed”

2. After the usual notices were issued on the parties, the terms of settlement reached between the parties on 28th May 1961, were received by this Tribunal. The terms of settlement have been signed on behalf of the employers by the Agent of the New Churulia Coal Company Limited and on behalf of the workmen by Shri Rambilas Prasad, General Secretary, Chotanagpur Bauxite Workers' Union P.O. At the hearing of the dispute on 12th July 1961 Shri Girdhar Gopal, Labour Officer, New Churulia Coal Co Ltd filed the terms of settlement dated 25th June 1961 reached between the parties in settlement of this dispute. Short Recital of the case

As the work at Bagru Bauxite Mines of the New Churulia Coal Co. Ltd. was stopped by the Raising Contractor, Shri S. J. Ahmed from 19th November 1960 without serving proper notice to the workmen, the workmen should be paid compensation and other dues as are required to be paid when any work is stopped. On the other side the management states that the workmen were all temporary and they did not put full number of attendance to take their entitled for notice and other dues.

The Union took up the matter with the Conciliation Officer (Central) Hazaribagh on 22nd November 1960 in this respect but no settlement could be made. Now, the case is lying before the Central Government Industrial Tribunal at Dhanbad for its decision and award.

Terms of Settlement

The case has been decided mutually under the following terms:—

1. The management agreed to pay a lump sum of Rs. 500/- (Rupees five hundred only) to the workmen represented by the C.B.W. The amount will be paid within 20 days to the General Secretary or the President of the Union.
2. The Union will withdraw the case under reference No. 7 of 1961 lying with the honourable Tribunal at Dhanbad informing it that the case has been decided mutually.
